Unit 1- Legal Framework of Regulation of Banks

Business of Banking

Banking: Banking is defined in section 5(b) of the Banking Regulation Act as the acceptance of deposits of money from the public for the purpose of lending or investment.
Deposits Withdrawable by cheque: Under section 49A of the Banking Regulation Act, no organization other than a bank is authorized to accept deposits withdrawable by Cheque.

Acceptance of Deposits by Non-banking entities: The Reserve Bank of India (the Bank), having considered it necessary in the public interest and being satisfied that for the purpose of enabling the Bank to regulate the credit system to the advantage of the country, it is necessary to give the directions set out below, hereby, in exercise of the powers conferred by sections 45J, 45JA, 45K, 45L and 45MA of the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934 (Act 2 of 1934) (the RBI Act) and of all the powers enabling it in this behalf, and in supersession of the earlier directions contained in Notification No.DFC.118/DG (SPT)-98 dated January 31, 1998 issues the following Non-Banking Financial Companies Acceptance of Public Deposits (Reserve Bank) Directions, 2016 (the Directions) applicable to every non-banking financial company hereinafter specified.

Licence for Banking: In India, it is necessary to have a licence from the RBI under Section 22 of the Banking Regulation Act for commencing or carrying on the business of banking.

Permitted Business: Main business of banks is acceptance of deposits and lending, the banks have now spread their wings far and wide into many allied and even unrelated activities. The forms of business permissible under section 6(1) of the Banking Regulation Act, apart from banking business,

1. Borrowing, raising or taking up of money
2. Lending or advancing of money either against security or without security
3. Drawing, making, accepting, discounting, buying, selling, collecting and dealing in bills of exchange.
4. Granting and issuing of letter of credit
5. Buying and selling of foreign exchange and foreign bank notes
6. Negotiating of loans and advances
7. Providing of safe deposit
8. Undertake and execute trust ETC, ETC

Prohibited Business: Section 8 of the Banking Regulation Act prohibits a banking company from engaging directly or indirectly in trading activities and undertaking trading risk. Buying or selling or bartering of goods directly or indirectly is prohibited.

Constitution of Banks

Banks in India fall under one of the following categories:

- Body corporate constituted under a special statute;
• Company registered under Companies Act, 1956 / foreign company
• Cooperative Society registered under a central and state enactment on cooperative societies.

Public sector bank

A Public Sector bank is one in which, the Government of India holds a majority stake. These banks are constituted under special statute. The State Bank of India was constituted under The State Bank of India Act, 1955. The six subsidiaries of State Bank of India were constituted under the State Bank of India (Subsidiary Banks) Act, 1959. The government further nationalized 14 commercial banks through Banking Companies (Acquisition and Transfer of Undertakings) Ordinance, 1969 on 19th July 1969. It later nationalized six more commercial banks through Banking Companies (Acquisition and Transfer of Undertakings) Act, 1980 on 15th April 1980. The State Banks (Repeal and Amendment) Bill 2017 merges five associate banks of SBI and Bharatiya Mahila Bank with SBI.

Banking Companies

A banking company, as defined in section 5(c) of the Banking Regulation Act is a company which transacts the business of banking. Such company may be a company constituted under section 3 of the Companies Act, 1956 or incorporated under the Companies Act, 2013 or foreign company within the meaning of section 591 (u/s 379 of companies Act, 2013) of that Act. All the private sector banks are banking companies. These banks are governed by the Companies Act, 1956 or Companies Act 2013 in respect of their constitution and by the Banking regulation Act.

Co-operative bank

A Cooperative bank is essentially a cooperative Society. There are two types of Co-operative banks: Multi-state cooperative society and State Cooperative society. Multi-state cooperative societies are registered under the cooperative society’s act of the Centre. State cooperative societies are registered under the state cooperative act. The Banking laws (Application to Cooperative Societies) Act, 1956 extended certain provisions of the Banking Regulation Act and Reserve Bank of India Act to the Co-operative banking sector.

The Banking Regulation: The Act authorized the Reserve Bank to issue directions to banks under Sections 21 and 35A of the Act.

Section 21 BR Act 1949: Gives the power to regulate advances by banking companies. RBI allows to control loans and advances extended by banking companies.

Section 35A BR Act 1949: vests power in the RBI to give directions to banks and can take action:

To prevent the affairs of any banking company being conducted in a manner detrimental to the interests of the depositors or in a manner prejudicial to the interests of the banking company
To ensure better governance and control

Section 36 BR Act 1949: RBI is empowered to caution or prohibit any banking company regarding any transaction or class of actions.

Acceptance of Deposits
Regulation of Acceptance of Deposits: The Banking Regulation Act does not contain any specific provisions for regulation of acceptance of deposits of banks. However, Section 35A which authorizes the RBI to give directions is wide enough to cover acceptance of deposit.

Returns on Unclaimed Deposits: Bank have to file a return every year on their unclaimed deposits under Section 26 of the Banking Regulation Act. The return has to be filed within 30 days of the end of each calendar year in the form and manner prescribed and should cover all deposit not operated for 10 yrs. In the case fixed deposits the period of 10 years starts from the expiry of the period of the deposit.

Nomination

Section 45ZA BR Act: Where a deposit is held by a banking company to the credit of one or more persons, the depositor or, as the case may be, all the depositors together, may nominate, in the prescribed manner, one person to whom in the event of the death of the sole depositor or the death of all the depositors. Unless the nomination is varied or cancelled, the nominee is entitled to all the rights of the depositor’s in the event of death of the depositor’s. In the case of minor nominees, there is also a provision to appoint a person to receive the deposit on behalf of the minor.

Article of safe custody and safety lockers: There are also provisions in the Banking Regulation Act for nomination in respect of articles kept in safe custody with bank and safety lockers. Sections 45ZC and 45ZE provide that any person, who leaves any article in safe custody and in safety lockers respectively with a banking company, may nomination one person as nominee to receive the article in the event of death of that person. The nomination has to be in the prescribed manner and on return of articles kept in safe custody or removal of contents of locker by nominees as provided; the bank gets a valid discharge. Rule 3 and 4 of banking companies (Nomination) rules, 1985 deal with the form and procedure applicable to articles in safe custody and safety lockers respectively in the case of banking companies and co-operative banks.

Regulation Loans, Advances & Interest Rates

Regulation of Loans and Advances: The RBI is empowered under Section 21 of the Banking Regulation Act to issue directions to control advances by banking companies.

The RBI issue directions from time to time regulating the lending operations of banking companies in exercise of these powers vested under Section 21. Apart from this, the general powers to give directions under Section 35A are also available for regulation of loans and advance.

Restriction on loans and advances: Section 20 of the Banking Regulation Act imposes certain restrictions on loans and advances.

Restrictions on power to remit debt: For remitting any debt to its directions, a banking company requires prior permission of the RBI under Section 20A of the BR Act.
Interest rates: RBI is authorized to regulate interest rates under Section 21 (with Section 35A) of the BR Act.

Regulation of Money Market Instruments

Section 45-W of RBI Act 1934: "Power to regulate transactions in derivatives, money market instruments, etc"

The Bank may, in public interest, or to regulate the financial system of the country to its advantage, determine the policy relating to interest rates or interest rate products and give directions in that behalf to all agencies or any of them, dealing in securities, money market instruments, foreign exchange, derivatives, or other instruments of like nature as the Bank may specify from time to time:

Provided that the directions issued under this sub-section shall not relate to the procedure for execution or settlement of the trades in respect of the transactions mentioned therein, on the Stock Exchanges recognised under section 4 of the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956 (42 of 1956).

The Bank may, for the purpose of enabling it to regulate agencies referred to in sub-section (1), call for any information, statement or other particulars from them, or cause an inspection of such agencies to be made.

Reserve Funds

Creation of Reserve Fund: Every Banking Company incorporated in India has to create a reserve fund under Section 17(1) of the BR act out of the profits as shown in the profits and loss account prepared under Section 29 of the Act. Every year, a sum equivalent to not less than 20% of such profit has to be transferred to the reserve fund. Such transfer of profits to reserve fund has to be made before any dividend is declared.

Appropriation from Reserve fund/ Share Premium Account: Appropriation of any amount from the reserve fund or the share premium account has to be reported to the Reserve Bank within 21 days of such appropriation.

Foreign Bank: The provisions of Section 17(1) of the Banking Regulation Act for creating of reserve fund do not apply to foreign banks operating in India. In their case, instead of creating a reserve fund under section 17(1), section 11(2) of the Act requires them to deposit an amount calculated at 20% of the profit for each year in respect of all the business transacted through their branches in India.

Maintenance of Cash Reserve
Every Bank company which is a scheduled bank has a duty to maintain certain cash reserve with the RBI under Section 42 of the RBI Act. In the case of non-scheduled banks Section 18 of the BR Act provides for the maintenance of cash reserve.

Scheduled Banks: A scheduled Bank is a bank included in the second schedule of the RBI Act. Under Section 42(6) of the Act, the RBI may include any bank in the second schedule if it satisfies. It has a paid-up capital and reserves of an aggregate value of not less than Rs 5 lacs.

Unit 1: Case Laws on Responsibility of Paying Bank

Negotiable Instruments Act and Paying Banks

Section 31 Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881: Liability of drawee of cheque. —The drawee of a cheque having sufficient funds of the drawer in his hands properly applicable to the payment of such cheque must pay the cheque when duly required so to do, and, in default of such payment, must compensate the drawer for any loss or damage caused by such default.
Note: Section 10, 85, 85A, 89 and 128 of the Negotiable Instrument Act, 1881, grant protection to a paying banker.

Section 31 Applies Only a Bankers: This is because as per Section 6 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 “Cheque” has been defined as a “Bill of exchange drawn on a specified banker and not expressed to be payable otherwise than on demand”.

Section 10 Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881: "Payment in due course” means payment in accordance with the apparent tenor of the instrument in good faith and without negligence to any person in possession thereof under circumstances which do not afford a reasonable ground for believing that he is not entitled to receive payment of the amount therein mentioned.

Section 85 Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881: "Cheque payable to order"

Where a cheque payable to order purports to be indorsed by or on behalf of the payee, the drawee is discharged by payment in due course.

Where a cheque is originally expressed to be payable to bearer, the drawee is discharged by payment in due course to the bearer thereof, notwithstanding any indorsement whether in full or in blank appearing thereon, and notwithstanding that any such indorsement purports to restrict or exclude further negotiation.

Section 85A Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881: "Drafts drawn by one branch of a bank on another payable to order"

Where any draft, that is, an order to pay money, drawn by one office of a bank upon another office of the same bank for a sum of money payable to order on demand, purports to be indorsed by or on behalf of the payee, the bank is discharged by payment in due course.

Section 89 Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881: a promissory note

Where a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque has been materially altered but does not appear to have been so altered, or where a cheque is presented for payment which does not at the time of presentation appear to be crossed or to have had a crossing which has been obliterated, payment thereof by a person or banker liable to pay, and paying the same according to the apparent tenor thereof at the time of payment and otherwise in due course, shall discharge such person or banker from all liability thereon; and such payment shall not be questioned by reason of the instrument having been altered or the cheque crossed.

Where the cheque is an electronic image of a truncated cheque, any difference in apparent tenor of such electronic image and the truncated cheque shall be a material alteration and it shall be the duty of the bank or the clearing house, as the case may be, to ensure the exactness of the apparent tenor of electronic image of the truncated cheque while truncating and transmitting the image.
Any bank or a clearing house which receives a transmitted electronic image of a truncated cheque, shall verify from the party who transmitted the image to it, that the image so transmitted to it and received by it, is exactly the same.

Section 128 Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881: Payment in due course of crossed cheque.—Where the banker on whom a crossed cheque is drawn has paid the same in due course, the banker paying the cheque, and (in case such cheque has come to the hands of the payee) the drawer thereof, shall respectively be entitled to the same rights, and be placed in the same position in all respects, as they would respectively be entitled to and placed in if the amount of the cheque had been paid to and received by the true owner thereof.

Unit 2: Case Laws on Responsibility of Collecting Bank

Statutory Protection to Collecting Bank

Section 131 of the Negotiable Instruments Act grants protection to a collecting banker

- Non-liability of a Banker Receiving Payment of Cheque: A Banker, who has, in good faith and without negligence, received payment for a customer of cheque crossed generally or specially to himself shall not, in case the title to the cheque proves defective, incur any liability to the true owner of the cheque by reason only of having received such payment.

- Conditions for Protection: Though Section 131 grants protection to a collecting banker, the protection is conditional. For the collecting banker to claim the protection under section 131, he has to comply with certain conditions and they are:
  1. The collecting banker should have acted in good faith
  2. He should have acted without negligence
  3. He should receive payment for a customer
  4. The cheque should be crossed generally or specially to himself.

Duties of Collecting Bank

- Duty to open account with references
- Duty to follow up the reference where the referee is not known
• Duty to Ensure Crossing: It is duty of the banker to ensure that the cheque is crossed specifically to himself and if the cheque is crossed to some other banker they should refuse to collect it. Similarly where the cheque is crossed to a specific account then crediting the same to another account without necessary enquiry’s would make him liable on the grounds of negligence.

• Duty to verify the instruments / any apparent defect in the Instruments

• Duty to take into account the state of customers account

• Negligence of Collecting Bank in Collecting Cheques Payable to Third parties.

Unit 4: Types of Credit Facilities

Types of Credit Facilities

Credit facilities are classified into two types on funds

- Fund based Credit facilities
- Non-Fund based Credit facilities

Fund Based Credit Facilities: Fund based credit facilities involve the outflow of funds meaning there by, the money of the banker is lent to the customer.

- Cash Credits/overdrafts: Cash Credit (CC) is a short-term loan offered to businesses to meet their working capital requirements, whereas Overdraft facility is funding offered by banks to individuals or companies to withdraw money from the banks even if their account balance is low, zero or below.

- Term loan/ Demand loans: Term loan/ Demand loans are granted to customers generally for meeting the capital expenditure needs of the business. Short term- 1year, Medium Year- 7 years, Long-term loans- Above 7 years.
• Bill finance: Bill finance is also one of the important facets of lending by banks. Generally, the bill finance is conducted through discounting of bills of exchange drawn by the borrower or third persons on the customer of borrower.

Non-fund Based Credit Facilities: In this type of credit facility the bank’s funds are not directly lent to the customer. There are following types

- Guarantee facility: A bank guarantee is a type of guarantee from a lending institution. The bank guarantee means a lending institution ensures that the liabilities of a debtor will be met. In other words, if the debtor fails to settle a debt, the bank will cover it.
- Letter of Credit facility: A letter of credit (LOC) is a bank document that guarantees a payment.
- Underwriting and credit guarantee: Underwriting services are provided by some large financial institutions, such as banks, or insurance or investment houses, whereby they guarantee payment in case of damage or financial loss and accept the financial risk for liability arising from such guarantee.

Right of An Indemnity Holder

Section 125 of the Contract Act lays down the rights of an indemnity Holder.

Rights of indemnity-holder when sued.—The promisee in a contract of indemnity, acting within the scope of his authority, is entitled to recover from the promisor— —The promisee in a contract of indemnity, acting within the scope of his authority, is entitled to recover from the promisor—"

- All damages which he may be compelled to pay in any suit in respect of any matter to which the promise to indemnify applies;
- All costs which he may be compelled to pay in any such suit if, in bringing or defending it, he did not contravene the orders of the promisor, and acted as it would have been prudent for him to act in the absence of any contract of indemnity, or if the promisor authorized him to bring or defend the suit;
- All sums which he may have paid under the terms of any compromise of any such suit, if the compromise was not contrary to the orders of the promisor, and was one which it would have been prudent for the promisee to make in the absence of any contract of indemnity, or if the promisor authorized him to compromise the suit.

Unit 6: Bank Guarantees

Bank Guarantees

Guarantee is defined in section 126 of Indian Contract Act.

There are three parties to a contract of guarantee.

A ‘contract of guarantee’ is a contract to perform the promise, or discharge the liability, of a third person in case of his default.

- Surety: The person who gives the guarantee is called the ‘surety’
- Principal debtor: The person in respect of whose default the guarantee is given is called the ‘principal debtor’
- Creditor: The person to whom the guarantee is given is called the ‘creditor’

Types of Bank Guarantees
• Financial Guarantee: These are guarantees issued by banks on behalf of the customers, in lieu of the customer being required to deposit cash security or earnest money.

• Performance Guarantee: These are guarantees issued by banks on behalf of its customers whereby the bank assures a third party that the customer will perform the contract entered into by the customer as per the conditions stipulated in the contract, failing which bank will compensate the third party up to which the amount specified in the guarantee.

• Deferred Payment Guarantee: Under this type of the guarantee, the banker guarantees payment of installments over a period of time. This type of the guarantee is required when the customer on credit purchases goods/machinery and payment is to be made in installments on specified dates. A deferred payment guarantee constitutes an undertaking on the part of the bank to make payment of deferred installments to the seller (beneficiary) on due dates in the event of default by the customer (buyer).

Issuance of Bank Guarantee – Precautions to be taken

The liability of the bank under a guarantee depends on two fundamental criteria's, the amount guaranteed and the period of the guarantee.

- Amount Guaranteed
- Period of Guaranteed

Claim period in a guarantee: In a guarantee, it is necessary to provide for a period slightly longer than the validity period, for the beneficiary to make a claim. The claim period is usually a few months more than the validity period of the guarantee. Since if the debtor were to commit a default on the last day of the validity period, then the beneficiary, at the earliest, invokes the same only on the next day.

Amendment to Section 28 of Indian Contract Act and its effect on Bank Guarantee: Prior to the amendment of Section 28 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872 most bank guarantees had a standard clause at the end of their guarantee agreements. As per this clause, the beneficiary was required to enforce his claims within a period of three to six months, failing which, the bank’s liability was extinguished and hence the rights of the beneficiary.

Unit 7: Letters Of Credit
Letters Of Credit

An Letters Of Credit can be compared to guarantee given by a bank on behalf of its customer to the effect that the bank would make payment to the beneficiary when the beneficiary presents the documents as it required in the LC. They are not negotiable instrument.

Parties to a Letter of Credit

- Applicant-Buyer-Importer-Opener: He is the person who applies to bank for Letter of Credit. Ex: Mr. Srivastav & Co.
- Issuing Bank: The bank which opens the Letter Of Credit on the request of applicant/Buyer. Ex: Bank of Baroda
- Beneficiary-Exporter-Seller: The person who is entitled to receive the benefit under Letter of Credit. Ex: M.s jha & Co.
- Advising Bank / Notifying Bank: The bank in the Beneficiary/Exporters Country through which the letter of credit is advised to the beneficiary. Ex: The UK Bank
- Negotiating Bank: The bank in the Beneficiary/Exporters Country which negotiate the bills (i.e. make payments on the bills drawn by the seller and accepts the documents.) If the LC specifies a bank then that bank is the Negotiating Bank and is also called the Nominated Bank / Paying Bank. If the LC however does not specify the bank, than any bank can be negotiating bank.
- Confirming Bank: The advising bank is only required to advise the credit to the beneficiary. If however in addition to advising the credit the advising bank were to confirm it, then the advising bank will also become confirming Bank.
- Reimbursing Bank: It is the bank which is appointed by the Issuing Bank to make reimbursement to the Negotiating, Paying or confirming Bank.

Types of Letters of Credit

- Acceptance Credit: Ordinary Letters of Credits are usually sight credits, i.e. immediate payment should be made of the bills drawn by the beneficiary. Such letters of credit under which usance bills can be drawn is an Acceptance Credit or Time Credit.
- Revocable Credit: A revocable LC is a credit that can be amended / cancelled by the issuing bank without prior notice to the beneficiary. However, if any negotiating bank has acted on the credit prior to receipt of the notice of amendment/cancellation then the issuing bank is bound to reimburse the negotiating bank.
- Irrevocable Credit: is a credit that can neither be amended nor cancelled without the consent of the beneficiary.
- Confirmed Credit: If a bank advising the credit to beneficiary adds its own confirmation to the credit, then the credit would be called a confirmed credit. Only irrevocable credit can be confirmed With Recourse and without Recourse Credits : when beneficiary draws a bill under a LC he is liable if the drawee fails to make payment. These kind of bills are called recourse LCs. The beneficiary can exclude liability by adding to the bill following words “without recourse”
• Transferable Credits: As such the rights under an LC cannot be transferred and is vested in the beneficiary. A transferable credit is one under which the beneficiary can transfer his rights to third parties. Unless specifically stated an LC is not transferable.

• Back-To-Back Credits: The beneficiary in whose favour an LC is issued uses the same to obtain another credit from his (beneficiary’s) bank in favor of the supplier. There are three banks involved in this type of LC. (Issuing Bank, Advising Bank, Third bank which issued an ancillary credit against the security of the original credit.

• Anticipatory Letter of Credit

1. Red Clause Letter of credit - In a usual LC transaction the beneficiary will be entitled to receive payment only on his handing over the documents and bills drawn under the LC to the negotiating bank. However in certain credits the beneficiary will be entitled to get and advance of the price. These credits contains a “Red Clause” which authorises an intermediary bank to make an advance to the beneficiary before shipment.

2. Green Clause Letter Of Credits -This is refinement of the “Red Clause”. This type of LC not only permits preshipment advance but also permits advances to the exporter to cover storage at the port of shipment. The Red Clause and Green Clause credit are called Anticipatory Credits.

3. Revolving Letter of Credit: In this type of credit though amount is fixed, it can be renewed as soon as the earlier bills have been paid.

Documents Under a Letter Of Credit

• Bill of Exchange

• Invoice

• Transport Documents

• Bills of Lading

• Airway Bill

• Post Parcel Receipt and Courier Receipt

• Insurance Document

• Other Documents: Certificate of origin, Certificate of Weight or quality or analysis, Health authorities certificate etc.

Uniform Customers and Practices for Documentary Credits- UCPDC 600

The ICC Banking Commission approved the UCP 600, ICC’s new on documentary credits, on 25 October 2006. UCP 600, which come into effect in 1 July 2007, contains significant changes, including:
• A reduction in the number of articles from 49 of UCP 500 to 39.
• New articles on “Definitions” and “Interpretations” provide more clarity and precision in the rules.
• The replacement of the phrase “reasonable time” for acceptance or refusal of documents by a definite period of five banking days.
• New provisions which allows for the discounting of deferred payment credits.
• A definitive description of negotiation as “purchase” of drafts of documents.

Unit 8: Deferred Payment Guarantee

Deferred Payment Guarantee

A third Party, mostly banks and financial institutions, guarantee the payment of the instalments. This guarantee ensure timely payment of the instalments to the seller/exporter, failing which, the guarantee can be invoked and payment received. To understand better the deferred payment guarantee, it is necessary to understand how a payment is made in a deferred payment contract and how the same is guaranteed by a bank.

Method of Payment

In a contract for import of goods on deferred payment terms, the importer is required to make payments in instalments over a period of time which may range from 1 to 7 years, in a normal deferred payment contract. The payment is usually done on the following terms:

• Advance payment of 10% to 15% of the price of the goods is made by the buyer.
• Another 10% to 15% on receipt of document under letter of credit.
• The balance amount is paid in instalments spread over a period of 1 to 7 years, which is secured by a 'Deferred Payment Guarantee'.

In a deferred payment guarantee, which as stated earlier, issued by banks and financial institutions , what is guaranteed, is the timely payment of instalments and interest if provided. This is done by issuing a deferred payment guarantee in which the following terms are mandatory:

• The supply of goods by the seller to the buyer and the seller agreeing to postpone the payment of the price, this being the consideration of the guarantee;
• The Payment schedule of both the instalment and the interest;
• The unconditional and irrevocable assurance of the bank that it would make payments on the invocation of the guarantee.

Unit 9: Law Relating to Bill finance

Bill Financial

Bill finance is one of the modes of lending by a banker. Compared to other modes of financing, Bill finance offers a banker an easy mode of lending. Bill finance involves discounting or purchase of commercial bills arising out of sale of goods.

Bill finance, as compared to cash credit and overdraft, has the following advantage;

• The underlying transactions are easily identifiable
• There is definite data of repayment
• The bill will carry more than one signature if it is a usance basis
• It represents an easily transferable asset and in case of need the same can be rediscounted to improve the liquidity of the bank.

Classification of Bills

• Inland Bills: Bills drawn or made in India and made payable in, or drawn upon any person resident in India. It may be made payable in a foreign country.

• Foreign Bills (Section 12 NI Act): Bills drawn outside India and made payable in or drawn upon any person resident in any country outside India / resident in India

• Demand Bills (Section 19): It is an instrument payable on demand and no time for payment is specified therein. Demand Bill is otherwise called sight bill.

• Usance Bills: Bill Payable after sight: a bill payable otherwise than on demand. It specifies normally a time for payment of the value it represents.

• Clean Bills: is a bill of exchange drawn as per requirements of NI Act and is not supported by documents of title of goods.

• Documentary Bills: A bill of exchange accompanying documents of title of goods. These bills are drawn to claim price of goods supplied.

1. Bills drawn with an instruction to deliver against payment/D.P. Bills – In a transaction of supply of goods, a seller draws a bill on the buyer and sends the same to his banker along with document of title of goods like bill of lading etc. The seller instructs the banker to deliver the bill and documents of title of goods only when buyer pays the price of goods.

2. Bills drawn with instruction to deliver against acceptance / D.A.Bills – An usance bill supported by document of title of goods bearing an instruction that the documents can be delivered, if the buyer accept the bill of exchange

Unit 10: Various Types of Securities

Unsecured loans & secured loan

Unsecured loans
Unsecured loans are loans that are approved without the need for collateral. Collateral is when you pledge an asset to secure a loan. With an unsecured loan, instead of pledging assets, borrowers qualify based on their credit history and income.

What is a secured loan?

A secured loan is a type of loan in which a borrower pledges an asset such as a car, property, equity, etc. against that loan. The loan amount made available to the borrower is usually based on the value of the collateral. If in case the borrower defaults the loan, the lender can liquidate the asset and recover the loan amount, making these loans risk-free for the lender. As a result, these loans are easier to obtain and charge a lower interest rate than an unsecured loan.

Types of secured loan

Usually a secured loan can be availed against the following types of collateral:

- Real estate, including any financial equity earned since purchasing the residence
- Bank accounts such as savings accounts and fixed deposits
- Commercial and residential property
- Private vehicles
- Stocks, mutual funds, or bond investments
- Insurance policies, including life insurance
- Precious metals, high-end collectibles, and other valuables

Various Kinds of Securities

- Land/Real Estate
- Stocks and Shares
- Debentures
- Goods
- Life Policies
- Gold Loan
- Book Debts
- Fixed Deposits
- Supply Bills
• Vehicle Financing

Unit 11: Law Relating to Securities and Modes of Charge- 1

Mortgage

Section 58 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 defines “A mortgage is the transfer of interest in specific immovable property, for the purpose of securing the payment of money advanced or to be advanced by way of loan, on existing of future debt or the performance of an engagement which may give rise to a pecuniary liability”.

The transferor is called the “mortgagor” and the transferee a “mortgagee”. The principal money and interest of which payment is secured is called “mortgage money” and the instrument by which the transfer is effected is called “mortgage deed”.

Six Different kinds of mortgage
1. Simple Mortgage: Section 58(B) Transfer of Property Act

- The mortgagee has no power to sale without Court Intervention
- No right to get any payments out of the rents
- Not in possession of the property
- Registration is mandatory.

2. Mortgage by conditional sale: Section 58 (c) Transfer of Property Act

- The sale is ostensible and not real
- If the money is not paid on the agreed date, the ostensible sale will become absolute upon the mortgagor applying to the court and getting a decree in his favour.
- The mortgagee can sue for foreclosure, but not for sale of the property.
- There is no personal covenant for repayment of the debt and therefore bankers do not prefer this type of the mortgage.

3. Usufructuary Mortgage: Section 58(d) Transfer of Property Act

- The mortgagee is put in possession of the mortgaged property. Here by possession means legal possession not a physical possession.
- The mortgagee has the right to received rents and profits accruing from the property.
- He mortgagee cannot sue the mortgagor for repayment of the debt, sale or foreclosure of the mortgaged property.
- If the mortgagor fails to bring a suit for redemption within 30 years, the mortgagee becomes absolute owner of the property.
- Banker do not prefer this form of mortgage for the following reasons
- There is no personal covenant to repay the debt.
- It will take very long time to recovery money through this process

4. English Mortgage : Section 58(e) Transfer of Property Act

- It provides personal covenant to pay on a specified date notwithstanding the absolute transfer of the property to the mortgagee.
- There is an absolute transfer of the property in favour of the mortgagee. Property shall be re-conveyed to the mortgagor in the event of repayment of mortgage money.
- The mortgagee can sue the mortgagor for the recovery of the money and can obtain a decree for sale.
5. Mortgage by deposit of title deeds / Equitable Mortgage: Section 58(f) Transfer of Property Act

- Where a person in any of the towns notified by the govt. concerned may, delivers to a creditor or his agent documents of title to immoveable property, with intent to create a security thereon, the transaction is called a mortgage by deposit of title deeds.

6. Anomalous Mortgage – Section 58(g) Transfer of Property Act

- A mortgage which is not a simple mortgage, a mortgage by conditional sale and usufructuary mortgage and English mortgage or a mortgage by deposit of title deeds within the meaning of this section, is called an “Anomalous Mortgage”.

- It is negatively defined and should not be anyone of the mortgages listed above.

- It is combination of two mortgages: Simple and usufructuary mortgage

- usufructuary mortgage accompanied by conditional sale

Unit 12: Law Relating to Securities and Modes of Charge 2

Pledge

Pledge means bailment of goods for purpose of providing security for payment of debt or performance of promise (as per the Section 172 of Contract Act 1872).

The Requirements are to be satisfied:

- There must be bailment of goods (bailment means delivery of goods);
• The bailment must be, by or on behalf of the debtor; and
• The bailment, must be for the purpose of providing security for the payment of a debt or performance of promise.

Pawnor – The person whose goods are bailed

Pawnee – The person who takes the goods for security

Advantages of Pledge:

• The goods are in the custody of the pawnee and, therefore, it is easy to sell in case of default. If the banker takes proper precautions, through periodical inspections, it will not be possible for the pawnor to create subsequent charges against the same goods.
• Because of close supervision, it will not be possible for the pawnor to manipulate the stocks.
• Even if the goods are lost, the banker can recover the amount under the insurance policy.
• The formalities connected with the pledge are simpler than in the case of Mortgage.

Unit 13: Registration and Satisfaction of Charges

Types of Charges

“Charges” registered under the Companies Act can be classified into two types:

Fixed Charge: ‘Fixed Charge’ is also called ‘specific Charge’. It extends over a specific property or properties of the company.

Floating Charge: A floating charge is a security interest over a fund of changing assets of a company or other legal person. Unlike a fixed charge, which is created over ascertained and definite property, a floating charge is created over property of an ambulatory and shifting nature.

Provisions of Law Relating to Registration of Charges

Section 77, Companies Act 2013: This section provide that ‘charge’ means and includes mortgage/charge over any or all properties of the company within or outside India.

Section 77(1), Companies Act 2013: This section provides that the charge created over the properties of the company shall be registered with the Registrar of Companies within 30 Days of creation of charge.

Section 77(2), Companies Act 2013: This section provide that the Registrar shall give a certificate under his hand of the Registration of any charge registered, stating the amounts thereby secured.

Section 78, Companies Act 2013: This section provides that in case the charges is not registered by the Company, the charge holder may apply for filling of charge in the prescribed manner within a period 14 Days after giving the Company a notice in this regard.

Section 79, Companies Act 2013: This section provide that if a company acquires a property charged under Section 77, then the company shall declare the same by filling the particulars of the property, so acquired, subject to charge.

Section 80, Companies Act 2013: This section provides that after registration of charge created, any other person acquiring such property charged or any party thereof, shall be deemed to have notice to the charge registered and shall take property subject to such charge.

Section 82, Companies Act 2013: This section provide that the Company shall intimate the Registrar of any payment/satisfaction in full of any charge registered within a period 30 days.
Section 83, Companies Act 2013: Power of Registrar to Make Entries of Satisfaction and Release in Absence of Intimation from Company.

Section 84, Companies Act 2013: This section provides that in case an order for appointment of receiver or manager is obtained by any person, then such person shall give notice of such appointment of receiver/manager within a period of 30 days from the date of such order.

Section 85, Companies Act 2013: This section requires the company shall maintain at its registered office, a register of charges in prescribed form and manner.

Section 86, Companies Act 2013: This section provides that contravention of any the aforesaid provision shall be punishable with a fine not less than Rs 100000 but which may extend to Rs 1000000 and every officer in default shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term of upto 6 months.

Section 86, Companies Act 2013: This section provides that the Central Govt may direct that the time for filing charge may be extended upon being satisfied of a few conditions mentioned in the section.

Unit 1 & 2: SARFAESI ACT, 2002

SARFAESI Act

The SARFAESI Act gives detailed provisions for the formation and activities of Asset Securitization Companies (SCs) and Reconstruction Companies (RCs). Scope of their activities, capital requirements, funding etc. are given by the Act. RBI is the regulator for these institutions.

As a legal mechanism to insulate assets, the Act addresses the interests of secured creditors (like banks). Several provisions of the Act give directives and powers to various institutions to manage the bad asset problem. Following are the main objectives of the SARFAESI Act.

- The Act provides the legal framework for securitization activities in India
- It gives the procedures for the transfer of NPAs to asset reconstruction companies for the reconstruction of the assets.

• The Act enforces the security interest without Court’s intervention
• The Act gives powers to banks and financial institutions to take over the immovable property that is hypothecated or charged to enforce the recovery of debt.

Major feature of SARFAESI is that it promotes the setting up of asset reconstruction (RCs) and asset securitization companies (SCs) to deal with NPAs accumulated with the banks and financial institutions. The Act provides three methods for recovery of NPAs, viz:

• Securitization;
• Asset Reconstruction; and
• Enforcement of Security without the intervention of the Court.

• Modify the award and pass such directions as may be necessary to give effect to the award so modified; or
• Pass any other order as it may deem fit.

The order of the appellate authority has also the same effect as that of the award of the banking ombudsman.
Unit 10: Jurisdiction, Powers and Authority of Tribunals

Jurisdiction, Powers and Authority of Tribunals

- Whenever the Tribunal or the Appellate Tribunal is established from its appointed day, i.e., date from which they function is declared in the notification, they exercise jurisdiction, powers and authority to entertain and decide applications or appeals, as the case may be, from the banks and financial institutions for and about recovery of debts due to them.

- Chairperson of Appellate Tribunal is given general power of superintendence and control over the Tribunals under his jurisdiction. The chairperson can transfer any application from any

- Presiding Officer within his jurisdiction to any other Presiding Officer within his jurisdiction, on Receiving application for transfer of case or even on his own motion. However before such transfer, he has to give notice to the parties and hear them. He also has power of appraising work of presiding officers, under his control.

Bar Of Jurisdiction Of Civil Courts

- From the date of establishing the Tribunal, i.e., the appointed day, no court or other authority shall have any jurisdiction, powers or authority to deal within any way in recovery cases above Rupees ten lakh. Thus the Civil Courts or any other authority will loose and will not have the jurisdiction for cases where due amount recoverable is above Rupees ten lakh by banks and financial institutions. However, this is not applicable to High Courts and Supreme Courts exercising jurisdiction under Articles 226 and 227 of the Constitution.

- The relevant date of bar of jurisdiction by the court or other authority is not the date when this Act came into application. The date is since when the Tribunal is established having jurisdiction in that particular area. In Bhanu Construction Company Ltd. vs Andhra Bank [2002] 37 SCL 769, a question came whether the order passed by a Civil Court after coming into force of the DRT Act but before establishing the Tribunal is valid on jurisdiction point or not. The Supreme Court held that order passed by the Civil Court prior to establishment of a Tribunal but after commencement of DRT Act was well within the jurisdiction of the Civil Court.

Unit 18: The Law of Limitation

Limitation and Its Computation

It is absolutely necessary that every suit or application or appeal shall have to be made within the period of limitation. Section 3 of the Limitation Act declares that every suit instituted, appeal preferred, and application made after the prescribed period shall be dismissed although limitation has not been set up as a defence. A suit is instituted when the plaint is presented to the proper officer in the court. In the case of set off or counterclaim, they shall be treated as a separate suit and shall be deemed to have been instituted:

- In the case of a set off, on the same date as the suit in which the set off is pleaded;
- In the case of a counterclaim, on the date on which the counter-claim is made in court.

Computation of the period of limitation

- When the period of limitation expires on a day when the court is closed, the suit, appeal or application may be instituted, preferred or made on the day when the court reopens.
- Any appeal or any application other than execution petitions may be admitted after the prescribed period, if the appellant or applicant makes out sufficient cause for not preferring the appeal or application within the period of limitation.
- In computing the period of limitation, the day from which such period is to be reckoned, shall be excluded. The computation of the period of limitation for filing appeal shall exclude the day on which the judgment complained was pronounced and the time taken for obtaining a copy of the decree, sentence or order appealed. Time required for obtaining a copy of the order or award shall be excluded while computing the time limit for filing revision or review application or an application to set aside the award.
- For an application for execution of decree, the period during which the institution or execution has been stayed by injunction or order, the day on which the order was issued or made and the day on which it was withdrawn shall be excluded.
- For filing any suit of which notice has to be given, or for which the previous consent or sanction of the Government or any other authority is required, in accordance with the requirements of any law for the time being in force, the period of such notice, or the time required for obtaining such consent or sanction shall be excluded.
- In computing the period of limitation for any suit, the time during which the defendant has been absent from India and from the territories outside India under the administration of the Central Government shall be excluded.
Acts Giving Rise To Fresh Period Of Limitation

There are two instances which will give rise to fresh period of limitation. In these cases the period of limitation will be computed as if the starting point is the happening of the instances.

- Where before the expiration of the prescribed period for a suit or application in respect of any property or right, an acknowledgement of liability in respect of such property or right has been made in writing signed by the party against whom such property or right is claimed, or by any person through whom he derives his title or liability, a fresh period of limitation shall be computed from the time when the acknowledgement was so signed.

- Where payment on account of a debt or of interest on a legacy is made before expiration of the prescribed period by the person liable to pay the debt or legacy or by his agent duly authorised in this behalf, a fresh period of limitation shall be computed from the time when the payment was made. In this case 'debt' does not include money payable under a decree or order of a court.

Service Tax

Service tax in India is a type of indirect tax charged on the services provided by a service provider. The Central Government via the Finance Act, 1994 governs the taxability of services provided by an individual or a company under Section 66B. The tax is imposed on all the services provided or to be provided in the taxable territory of the country. Services covered through negative list are exempted, along with services listed under the Mega Exemption Notification 25/2012 as amended by Notification No. 40/2016. The Place of Provision Rules 2012 and the Point of Taxation Rules 2011 are considered while determining the tax liability. Service tax is charged at the rate of 15% currently. The taxability arises once the value of services exceeds Rs. 10 lakhs during the financial year.

Unit 1: Meaning and Essentials of a Contact

The law of contact constitutes the most important branch of commercial law. In India, the law relating to contracts is governed by the Indian Contract Act, 1872.

MEANING OF CONTRACT

Contract means an agreement enforceable by law. It has two major constituents:

1. An agreement between two persons or more.
2. The agreement must be enforceable by law (i.e. the rights and obligations arising out of it).
   - It is made by free consent of all the parties.
   - It is made for a lawful consideration.
   - It is made with a lawful object and
   - It is not declared as void expressly in the Indian Contract Act

Key Components To Form A Contract

When one person signifies to another person, his willingness to do or not to do something, with a view to obtaining the consent of that other person, he is said to make a proposal.

When a person to whom the proposal is made, signifies his assent (consent), the proposal is said to be accepted.

- A proposal becomes a promise when it is accepted.
- The person making the proposal is called the 'promisor'.
- The person accepting the proposal is called 'promisee'
Essentials Of A Valid Contract

Proposal and Acceptance

There must be a lawful proposal by one party and the other party must accept the proposal.

An Agreement may be Oral or Written

While an agreement may be Oral or Written, under certain laws an agreement is required to be in writing only and is also required to be registered and attested. If such formalities are not complied with, then the agreement cannot be enforced before a court of law. This applies in the case of sale or mortgage if immoveable property, lease, etc.

The Contract Act defines consideration as under.

When, at the desire of the promisor, the promisee or any other person

• Has done or abstained from doing, or
• Does or abstains from doing, or
• Promises to do or to abstain from doing something.

Free Consent

Free consent of the parties to a contract is required. A consent is said to be free when the parties agree to the same thing in the same sense.

Capacity to Contract

The parties to an agreement must be legally competent to enter into a contract. Section 11 of the Contract Act lays down that every person is competent to enter into a contract if,

• He has attained the age of majority, and
• He is of sound mind and
• He is not disqualified from entering into an contract by any law to which he is subject.

Minor’s Contracts

As per Section 11 of Indian Contract Act, a minor is a person who has not attained the age of 18 years. But if a guardian has been appointed to the person or property of the minor by a court, the age of majority of such a person is 21 years and not 18 years.
Unit 2: Contracts of Indemnity

A Contract of Indemnity is a contract by which one party promises to save the other from loss likely to be caused to him. This loss can be, either by the conduct of the promisor himself or by the conduct of any other person.

Rights Of Indemnity Holder

The indemnity holder (i.e. the promisee or the person who is indemnified) has the following rights when sued (i.e. when a legal action is taken against the person who has indemnified).

The promisee is entitled to recover from the promisor, in respect of the matter to which the promise to indemnify applies:

- All damages which he may be compelled to pay in any suit, in respect of any matter to which the promise to indemnify applies.
- All costs which he may be compelled to pay in any suit.
- All sums paid in compromise, not contrary to indemnity.
- Right to sue for specific performance - the indemnity holder is entitled to sue for specific performance if he has incurred absolute liability and the contract covers such liability.

Implied Indemnity

A Contract of indemnity may be express or implied depending upon the circumstances of the case, through section 124 of the India Contract Act does not seem to cover the case of implied indemnity.

Enforceability of Contract of Indemnity

The Liability of the Indemnifier commences as soon as the loss of the indemnified becomes absolute, certain or imminent. It is not necessary that the promise should pay for the loss.

Unit 3: Contracts Of Guarantee

A 'Contract of Guarantee' is a contract to perform the promise, or discharge the liability, of a third person in case of latter’s default. A guarantee may be either oral or written. The question whether a particular contract is a contract of indemnity or guarantee has to be decided by examining the language of the documents entered into between the parties and the nature of transaction.

Parties To The Contract

- The person who gives the guarantee is called the 'surety'.
• The person in respect of whose default the guarantee is given is called the 'principal debtor'.

• The person to whom the guarantee is given is called 'creditor/beneficiary'.

Consideration

Anything done, or any promise made, for the benefit of the principal debtor, is a sufficient consideration to the surety for giving the guarantee.

The Liability of the surety

The liability of the surety is co-extensive with that of the principal debtor unless it is otherwise provided by the contract. A surety is regarded as a favoured debtor.

Continuing Guarantee

A guarantee which extends to a series of transactions, is called, a 'Continuing Guarantee'. This type of guarantee is not limited to only transaction but to many transactions.

Death of surety

Normally, when the surety dies, the guarantee ends from that date. However, this is not true in all cases. It depends upon the terms of the contract and the intention of the parties as regards future transactions. Generally all guarantee obtained by banks are continuing guarantee and in the case of death of a surety the guarantee would stand revoked for future transactions.

Variance in terms of the Contract

Any Variance (change/ modification) made without the surety’s consent, in the ‘term of contract’ guaranteed by him, between the principal debtor and the creditor discharges the surety as to transactions subsequent to the variance.

Discharge of principal debtor

The surety is discharged if the principal debtor is released by the creditor.

Forbearance to Sue

Further, mere forbearance on the part of creditor to sue the principal debtor or to enforce any other remedy, against him, does not discharge the surety unless the parties has agreed for such discharge.

Security

A surety is entitled to the benefit of every security which the creditor has against the principal debtor at the time when the contract of surety-ship made, whether the surety knows of the existence of such security or not. If the creditor loses such security, then the surety is discharged to the extend of the value of the security.

Unit 4: Contract Of Bailment

Bailment

A 'bailment' is the delivery of goods by one person to another for some purpose. When the purpose is accomplished, the goods are to be returned or otherwise disposed of according to the direction of the person delivering them.

- The person delivering the goods is called the 'bailor'.
- The person to whom they are delivered is called the 'bailee'.

Meaning Of Bailment

When one person delivers to another, certain goods to be used for a certain purpose, the contract is known as a contract of bailment. Here, the contract will specify the time for which the goods will remain with the person taking them. Also, the person who gives the goods can direct the other either to return the goods after the requisite time has expired or, direct him to dispose off the goods in a particular manner.

Bound To Disclose To Bailee Bailor

The bailor is bound to disclose to the bailee faults in the goods bailed

- Of which the bailor is aware,
- And which materially interfere with the use of them,
- Or expose the bailee to extraordinary risk;

and if he does not make such disclosure, he is responsible for damage arising to the bailee directly from such faults. If the goods are bailed for hire, the bailor is responsible for any damage whether he was aware of the existence of such faults in the goods bailed or not.

Effects of Mixing of goods and Expenses

- If the bailee (with the consent of the bailor), mixes the goods of the bailor with his own goods, the bailor and the bailee shall have an interest, in proportion to their respective shares, in the mixture this produced.

- If the bailee, without the consent of the bailor, mixes the goods of the bailor with his own goods and the goods can be separated or divided, the property in the goods remain with the parties respectively. The Bailee is is bound to bear the expense of separation or division, and any damage arising from the mixture.

Duties of the Bailee with regard to goods

- It is the duty of the bailee to return the goods bailed as soon as the time, for which they were bailed has expired or the purpose for which they were bailed has been accomplished.
- The bailee is responsible to the bailor for any loss, destruction or deterioration of the goods of the goods are not returned on time.
- In the absence of any contact to the contrary, the baillee is bound to delivery to the bailor any increase or profit which may have arisen from the goods bailed.

Unit 5: Contracts of Pledge

Introduction

- The bailment of goods as security for payment of a debt or performance of a promise is called 'pledge'.
• The bailor is in this case called 'pawnor'.
• The bailee is called 'pawnee'.

Ingredients of Pledge

To constitute a valid pledge, there must be:

• A contract in relation to an identified chattel to be delivered to the pledgee as security;
• Actual delivery of possession of the identified chattel in pursuance of the contract

The essential ingredients of a valid pledge are:-

• The property pledged should be actually or constructively delivered to the pawnee; and
• Pawnee has only a special property in the pledge while the general property remains with the pawnor and wholly reverts to him on discharge of debt.

Nature Of Pledge

• If the pawnor makes default in payment of the debt in respect of which the goods were pledged, the pawnee may bring a suit against the pawnor and retain the goods pledged as a security (or) he may sell the goods pledged, after giving notice of the sale to the pawnor.
• If the proceeds of such sale are less than the amount due, in respect of the debt, the pawnor is still liable to pay the balance. If the proceeds of the sale are greater than the amount so due, the pawnee shall pay over the surplus to the pawnor.
• It is important to note, that in all contract of bailment, the bailee, while he is in possession of the goods, steps into the shoes of the owner for the purpose of legal remedy. Thus, if any person were to deprive the bailee of the goods-by way of theft etc. the bailee, himself would have the right file a suit against such other person.

Unit 6: Contracts Of Agency

An agent, is a person employed to do any act for another person or to represent another person in dealings with some third person.

The person for whom such act is done (or who is represented) is called the principal.

Meaning Of Agency

The person should be authorised to do an act for a person in such a manner, as to bind that person, i.e. to make him answerable for such acts done on his behalf. The agent creates contractual relations between two separate persons when he enters into a contract on behalf of one of the parties.

Normal Rules Of Contract

The contract between the principal and his agent is a contract in itself and that is also governed by the normal rules of contract.

Persons To Be Majors And Of Sound Mind

Any person who is a major according to the law of which he is subject, and who is of sound mind, may employ an agent. Any person can become an agent, if he is a major and of sound mind.

Consideration

No consideration is necessary to create an agency.

Authority Of An Agent

The authority of an agent may be expressed or implied. An authority is said to be expressed, when it is given by words spoken or written. An authority is said to be implied when it is to be inferred from the circumstances of the case.

Agent's Authority in an Emergency

In an emergency, an agent has authority to do all acts to protect his principal form loss as would be done by a person his own case.

When Agent cannot Delegate

An agent cannot employ another to perform acts which he has undertaken to proform personally. A sub-agent may be employed of the custom of trade or the nature of agency so requires. A ‘sub agent’ is a person employed by and acting under the control of the original agent. The agent is responsible to the principal for the acts of the sub-agent. The sub-agent is responsible for his acts to the agent, but not to the principal.

Right of person as to acts done for him without his Authority-Effect of Ratification

If acts are done by an agent on behalf of the principal without his knowledge or authority, the principal may elect to ratify or to disown such acts. If he ratifies them, the same effects will follow as if they had been performed with his authority. Ratification may be express or implied in the Conduct of the person on whose behalf the acts are done.

When Agent’s Remuneration becomes Due
An agent can detain received by him on account of goods sold, even of all the goods consigned to him for sale are not sold.

Fraud by Agent

A principal is liable for the agent’s fraud acting within the scope of his authority whether the fraud is committed for the benefit of the principal or for the benefit of the agent.

Unit 7: Meaning and Essentials of a Contract of Sale

Contract Of Sale Of Goods

A contract of sale of goods is a contract under which the seller transfers or agrees to transfer the property in goods to the buyer for a price. When the property in the goods is transferred from the seller to the buyer, the contract is called a sale.

Features Of Contract Of Sale Of Goods

(a) Bilateral contract: A sale involves two persons - The buyer and the seller.
(b) Money consideration: The consideration for a sale of goods must be money, called the price payable for the transfer of goods. It cannot be a barter, where goods are exchanged for goods.

(c) Moveable property: The Sale of Goods Act covers only the sale of moveable goods and not immovable property like land and building. The contracts relating to transfer of immovable property are governed by the Transfer of Property Act and not Sale of Goods Act.

(d) No particular form: The Sale of Goods Act does not make it mandatory to enter into written contracts for the sale of goods. However, if any particular law provides for sale of certain types of goods to be done by a contract in writing, then that law has to be complied and the contract has to be in writing.

The contract may be oral or written or can be implied by the conduct of the parties. A contract of sale is made by an offer to buy or sell goods for a price and the acceptance of such offer.

The contract may provide for:

- Immediate delivery of the goods immediate payment of the price.
- For the delivery or payment by instalments.
- Postponement of delivery or payment.

It creates a right in rem. | It creates a right in personam.

The seller has no right to resell. | The seller has the right to resell the same goods if the conditions are not fulfilled.

On the off chance that the products are annihilated, the misfortune is borne by the buyer despite the fact that the merchandise is in the ownership of the seller. | The loss falls on the seller despite the fact that the merchandise is in the ownership of the buyer.

Unit 8: Conditions and Warranties

Under the Sale of Goods Act, the stipulations in a contract of sale with reference to goods are classified based on their importance as Condition or a Warranty.

Condition

If the stipulation agreed to between the parties is essential to the main purpose of the contract and is of such a nature that if the stipulation is breached (i.e. violated/not complied) then a party to the agreement would have a right to treat the contract as repudiated (cancelled) then such a stipulation is known as a condition.

Warranty

On the other hand, a warranty is a stipulation collateral to the main purpose of the contract. The breach of such a stipulation gives rise to a claim for damages only. The parties cannot reject the goods and treat the contract as repudiated.

Implied Conditions and Warranties
In a contract of sale of goods conditions and warranties may be either expressed or implied. Expressed conditions and warranties are those, which are expressly stated in the contract. Implied conditions and warranties are those, which the law implies into every contract of sale of goods. However, such implied conditions and warranties can be excluded by the parties to the contract if they agree expressly on these issues.

- Title of the Seller
- Sale of goods by description
- Sale by sample
- Sale is by sample as well as by description
- Quit possession: There is an implied warranty that the buyer shall have and enjoy quiet possession of the goods.
- Goods are free from any charge or encumbrance
- Quality or fitness of goods for any particular purpose
- Caveat Emptor (Buyer beware): Caveat means a warning, a caution. According to the doctrine of caveat emptor, the person who buys goods must keep his eyes open, his mind active and be cautious while buying the goods. In other words, the buyer must examine the goods thoroughly. Later on, if the goods do not serve his purpose or he depends upon his own judgement and he makes a bad choice, he cannot blame the seller for selling him such goods. The Sale of Goods Act also enshrines doctrine by stating that 'There is - (implied warranty or condition as to the quality or fitness of goods for any particular purpose) except in cases specifically explained above.

Unit 9: Unpaid Seller

Unpaid Seller

The seller of goods is deemed to be an 'unpaid seller',

- When the whole of the price has not been paid or tendered;
- When the payment for the goods is received in the form of a cheque or other negotiable instrument and the same is dishonoured for financial or other reasons

Unpaid seller’s rights against the goods

- A lien on the goods for the price while he is in possession of them;
- In case of insolvency of the buyer, a right of stopping the goods in transit after he has parted with the possession of them;
- A right of resale.
If the property in goods has not passed to the buyer, the unpaid seller also has a right of withholding delivery of the goods.

Unpaid seller's lien

The unpaid seller of goods (who is in possession of them), is entitled to retain possession of them until payment of the price is made in the following cases:

- If the goods have been sold without any stipulation as to credit;
- If the goods have been sold on credit, but the term of credit has expired;
- If the buyer becomes insolvent.

The unpaid seller of goods loses his lien thereon

- When he delivers the goods to a carrier or other bailee for the purpose of transmission to the buyer without reserving the right of disposal of the goods;
- When the buyer or his agent lawfully obtains possession of the goods;
- By waiver of lien.

Unit 10: Definition, Meaning and Nature of Partnership

Partnership is the relation between persons who have agreed to share the profits of a business carried on by all or any of them acting for all.

Persons, who have entered into partnership with one another are called individually 'partners' and collectively a 'firm' and the name under which their business is carried on is called the firm's name.

Partnership is the result of an agreement between the persons joining together to do some lawful business.

- The contract between the partners may be oral or written.
- The partnership must be formed to carry on some lawful business.
- The business must be carried on to earn and share the profits and returns of the business.
- There must be a mutual relation of 'agency' between the partners.

Types Of Partnership

1. Partnership at will
Where no provision is made by a contract between the partners for the duration of their partnership or for the determination (i.e. the termination or end) of the partnership, the partnership is known as 'partnership at will'.

2. Partnership for a fixed period

When two or more persons enter into a partnership agreement for a fixed period of time, it is known as a partnership for a fixed term.

3. Particular partnership

Such partnership is entered into, for completing a particular job or assignment taken up by two or more persons jointly and to share the profits arising there from.

Limited Liability Partnership (LLP)

The framework of law and rules dealing with limited Liability Partnership (LLP) are contained in the Limited Liability Partnership Act, 2008 (the LLP Act) and the limited liability Rules, 2009 (the LLP rules). Limited Liability Partnership Act, 2008 come into effect by way of Notification dated 31st March 2009.

The Salient Feature of Limited Liability Partnership Act, 2008:

- LLP shall be a body corporate and a legal entity separate from its partners.
- The Mutual rights and duties of partners of the LLP and those of the LLP shall be governed by an agreement between the Partners, subject to the provisions of the Act.
- No Partner would be liable on account of the independent or unauthorized actions of other partners or their misconduct.
- Every LLP shall have two partners
- Central Government shall have powers to investigate the affairs of a LLP, if required, by appointment of competent inspector, for the purpose.
- Indian Partnership Act, 1932 shall not be applicable to LLPs.

Unit 11: Relations of Partners to One Another

General Duties of Partners

The partners should not make secret profits. They have to be just and faithful to each other. They must render true accounts of the business and full information of all things affecting the firm to all the partners or their legal representatives.

Duty to Indemnify the loss caused by Fraud
Every partner is bound to indemnify the firm for any loss caused to the partnership firm by his fraud, in the conduct of the business of the firm.

Determination of Rights and Duties of Partners by Contract between the Partners

The partners of a firm can decide their mutual rights and duties and change them from time to time with the consent of all the partners. This may be implied (i.e. understood by the dealings between them/ with outsiders) or may be expressed (i.e. specifically discussed and made clear). These should however, be not against the provisions of the Partnership Act.

The CONDUCT OF THE BUSINESS

Subject to a contract between the partners (i.e. the agreement and understanding arrived between themselves)

- Every partner has a right to take part in the conduct of the business;
- Every partner is bound to attend diligently to his duties in the conduct of the business;
- Any difference arising as to ordinary matters connected with the business can be decided by a majority of the partners and every partner has a right to express his opinion before the matter is decided. However, no change can be made in the nature of the business without the consent of all the partners.
- Every partner has a right to have access to and to inspect and copy any of the books of the firm.

Mutual Rights And Liabilities

Subject to a contract between the partners (i.e., the agreement and understanding arrived between themselves),

- A partner is not entitled to receive remuneration for taking part in the conduct of the business;
- The partners are entitled to share equally in the profits earned and liable to contribute equally to the losses made by the firm;
- Where a partner is entitled to interest on the capital subscribed by him such interest is to be paid only out of profits of the firm;
- Interest at 6 per cent on extra amount paid by the partner;
- The firm has to indemnify a partner in respect of payments made and liabilities incurred by him:
- In the ordinary and proper conduct of the business, and
• In doing such act in an emergency, for the purpose of protecting the firm from loss;
• Similarly, a partner has to indemnify the firm for any loss caused to it by his wilful neglect in the conduct of the business of the firm.

Right and Duties of Partners

• After a change in the partner of a firm the mutual rights and duties of the partners in the reconstituted firm remain the same as they were immediately before the change.
• Similarly, after the expiry of the term of the firm, if a firm constituted for a fixed term, continues to carry on business, the mutual right and duties of the partners remain the same as they were before the expiry.
• Mutual rights and duties remain same for additional undertaking/adventure carried out.

Unit 12: Relations of Partners to Third Parties

Implied Authority of Partner as Agent of the Firm

An act done by a partner to carry on the kind of business done by the firm (in the usual way) binds the firm. This authority of a partner to bind the firm is called his 'implied authority'.

The implied authority of a partner does not empower him to

• Submit a dispute relating to the business of the firm to arbitration (i.e. for settlement by an independent person other than the parties to the dispute);
• Open a banking account on behalf of the firm in his own name;
• Compromise or relinquish (give up) any claim by the firm;
• Withdraw a suit or proceeding filed on behalf of the firm;
• Admit (accept) any liability in a suit or proceeding against the firm;
• Acquire immoveable property on behalf of the firm;
• Transfer immoveable property belonging to the firm; or
• Enter into partnership on behalf of the firm.

Liability of A Partner for Act of the Firm

Every partner is liable jointly with all other partners and also severally for all acts of the firm while he is a partner.

Holding Out
When a person who is not at all partner in a firm, either represents himself, or knowingly permit himself to be represented, as a partner in a firm and as a result of this, he induces others to give credits to the firm, he is known as a partner holding out.

Rights of Transferee of a Partner’s Interest

A transfer by a partner of his interest in the firm does not entitle the person to whom the interest is transferred (transferee) to interfere in the conduct of the business but entitles the transferee only to receive the share of profits of the transferring partner and the transferee has to accept the account of profits agreed by the partners.

Unit 13: Minor Admitted to the Benefits of Partnership

A Minor Cannot be a Partner

The minor has a right to share the property and profits of the firm as may be agreed upon by the partners and the minor can have access to the accounts of the firm.

Only the minor’s share is liable for the acts of the firm but the minor is not personally liable for the acts of the firm and the liabilities arising there from.
The minor may or may not take legal action (by filing suit) against the partners for payment of his share of the property or profits of the firm except when severing (ending) his connection with the firm.

Legal Position After The Minor Attains Majority

At any time within six months of his attaining majority, or of his obtaining knowledge that he had been admitted to the benefits of partnership (whichever date is later) the person may give public notice to the effect whether he has elected to become a partner or not. This notice determines his position as regards the firm.

However, if he fails to give such notice, he shall become a partner in the firm on the expiry of the said six months.

Where such a person becomes a partner (either because he elected to do so or because he failed to take a decision and six months have elapsed since he attained majority):

- His rights and liabilities as a minor continue up to the date on which he becomes a partner but he also becomes personally liable to third parties for all acts of the firm done since he was admitted to the benefits of partnership, and
- His share in the property and profits of the firm shall be the share to which he was entitled as a minor.

If such person elects not to become a partner:

- His rights and liabilities shall continue to be those of a minor up to the date on which he given public notice that he does not want to become a partner;
- His share shall not be liable for any acts of the firm done after the date of the notice; and
- He shall be entitled to sue the partners for his share of the property and profits.

Retirement of a Partner

A Partner may retire:

- With the consent of all other partners’
- In accordance with an express agreement by the Partners, or
- Where the Partnership is at will, by giving notice in writing to all the other partner of his intention to retire.

Unit 14: Dissolution Of a Firm

Dissolution Of Agreement
A firm can be dissolved with the consent of all the partners or in accordance with a contract between the partners.

Compulsory Dissolution

A firm is dissolved:

- If all the partners (except one) are adjudicated insolvent; or
- By the happening of any event which makes it unlawful for the business itself to be carried on or the event makes the business unlawful if it carried on in partnership.

However, if the partnership firm is carrying on more than one separate businesses, the illegality of one or more does not cause the dissolution of the firm. The firm can continue to carry on its lawful adventures and undertakings.

Dissolution On The Happening Of Certain Contingencies

A firm is dissolved in the following circumstances. To avoid dissolution in these cases, the partners should expressly agree that the firm shall not be dissolved in these circumstances:

- If the partnership is constituted for a fixed term, then by the expiry of that term;
- If the partnership is constituted to carry out one or more adventures or undertaking, then by the completion thereof;
- By the death of a partner; and
- By the adjudication of a partner as an insolvent.

Dissolution By The Court

At the suit of a partner the court may dissolve a firm on any of the following grounds:

- that a partner has become of unsound mind;
- that a partner (other than the partner suing for dissolution) has become permanently incapable of performing his duties as partner;
- that a partner (other than the partner suing) is guilty of conduct which is likely to affect prejudicially the carrying on of the business;
- that a partner (other than the partner suing) wilfully or persistently commits breach of agreements in relation to the management of the affairs of the firm or the conduct of its business or it is not reasonably practicable for the other partners to carry on the business in partnership with him, because of his conduct with respect to the business;
- that a partner (other than the partner suing) has transferred the whole of his interest in the firm to a third party; that the business of the firm cannot be carried on except at a loss; or on any other ground which renders it just and equitable that the firm should be dissolved.

Unit 15: Effect of Non-Registration

A company is compulsorily required to be incorporated and registered with the Registrar of Companies under the Companies Act, 1956 (Now ICA 2013). However, a partnership firm is not required to be compulsorily registered with the Registrar of Partnership Firms.

Registration

- The partner's may or may not enter into a partnership deed and may decide to have an oral partnership if they have a strong understanding amongst themselves.
- Even if a partnership deed is entered into by the partners they may not opt for registration of the partnership firm.

The provisions of the Section 69 are briefly stated hereunder:

- A partner of an unregistered firm cannot enforce by way of a suit, any right available to him under the Partnership Act or a right conferred by a contract amongst the partners against the partnership firm or any partner thereof.
- Similarly an unregistered firm cannot enforce by way of a suit, any right arising by a contract against any third party.
- Due to the provision which is stated in the Section 69, a majority of the partnership firms decide to register the firm to avoid future hassles and complexities on solving issues amongst the partners as well as with third parties.

Unit 16: Definition and Features of Company

A company formed and registered under this Act, or an existing company'. An existing company means a company formed and registered under any of the former Companies Acts.

Features Of A Company

Registration

A company has to be compulsorily registered under the Companies Act, 1956.

Artificial Legal Person

A company is an artificial legal person which is created by law and can be dissolved by the law alone. It is invisible, intangible and exists only in the eyes of the law. It enjoys many rights of a natural person. A company may enter into contracts in its own name, and it can acquire and dispose property and can be fined under the provisions of the law for violation of law

Independent corporate personality

A company, after incorporation is in law a single person, it has a distinct legal personality. By incorporation under the Companies Act, 1956 the company is vested with a corporate personality which is independent of and different from the members who compose it.

Limited liability

Limitation of liability is an advantage of incorporation of a company. Since under company law, the existence of a company is different from its own members and directors and a company leads its own business existence and since it is itself the owner of its assets and has its own liabilities, the members of the company are not bound to contribute anything more than the nominal value of the shares held by them and their liability ends there even though there may be creditors who may be claiming crore of rupees from the company.

Perpetual succession

An incorporated company never dies. It is a legal entity with perpetual succession. The insolvency or death of members does not affect the continued existence of the company. In spite of a total change in the members of the company, the company will remain the same entity. Members may come and members may go but the company goes on forever.

Separate property

On incorporation the company becomes the owner of its capital and assets. The company is capable of holding property in its own name.

Transfer of shares

The Companies Act, 1956 (Now ICA 2013) states that shares or other interest of any member in a company shall be moveable property, transferable in the manner provided by the articles of association. A shareholder may sell his shares in the open market and get back his money without changing the capital of the company.

Common Seal

As a company is an artificial legal person, it is not capable of signing documents for itself. Law provides for a common seal with the name of the company engraved on it as a substitute for its signature. Any document bearing the common seal of the company is legally binding on the company. However a common seal cannot be affixed by any director.

Corporate veil

Although a company is a separate legal entity distinct from shareholders in reality it is an association of persons who are the beneficial owners of all the corporate property.
Distinction Between A Company And Partnership

Registration
Registration of a company is compulsory under the Companies Act, 1956. Registration of a partnership is not compulsory under the Indian Partnership Act, 1932.

Number of members/partners
Private- There must be a minimum of two shareholders and maximum of 200. For directors, the minimum is two and maximum of 15.
Public sector- Minimum 7 members, no max limit shareholders. For Directors, Minimum 3 directors, and if listed company one-third must be independent

Legal status
A company has a legal existence separate from its own members and is viewed as a separate legal person from its members. A firm does not have, a separate legal existence different from its own partners.

Ownership of property
The property of the company is owned by the company itself and not its members as the company has a separate legal existence. The property of the firm is owned by the partners themselves and not by the firm as a firm does not have a separate legal existence different from its own partners.

Management
The company is managed by a board of directors elected by the shareholders. A partnership is managed by the partners except the dormant and sleeping partners.

Perpetual existence
- A company has a perpetual existence.
- A partnership does not have a perpetual existence.

Contracts
A member of the company can contract with the company. A partner cannot contract with the partnership firm.

Liability
Except in case of a company with unlimited liability, the liability of the members of the company is limited. The liability of partners in a partnership is unlimited.

Transfer
A transferee of shares in a company becomes a member of the company and the consent of all members is not required to become a member. A person can become a partner in a partnership firm with the consent of all the partners.

Death

The death of any or all members of the company does not determine (end) the existence of the company. Death of a partner dissolves the partnership unless the partnership deed provides otherwise.

Agency

The members of a company are not the agents of each other or of the company. Every partner of a firm is an agent of the other.

Unit 17: Classifications Of Companies

The Basis Mode Of Incorporation

Statutory Company: A statutory company is created or incorporated by a special Act passed by either the Central or the State legislature. The Statutory Companies are not required to have Memorandum of Association. Although each statutory company is governed by the provisions of the Special Act, the Companies Act, 1956 is also applicable to them insofar as the provision of the Companies Act.

Registered under the Companies Act, 1956 And Also Companies Act, 2013: Such Companies are incorporated and registered under the prevailing companies Act. Registered under the Companies Act prevailing before the enactment of the Companies Act, 1956, the companies Act, 1913.

Classifications Of Companies On The Basis Of Liability

- Company limited by shares
- Company with unlimited liability
- Company limited by guarantee

Classifications Of Companies On The Basis Of Public Interest

- Private company
- Public company
- Government company
- Foreign company
- One Person Company
- Small Company

Private company

- Section 2(68) of Companies Act, 2013 defines private companies.
According to that, private companies are those companies whose articles of association restrict the transferability of shares and prevent the public at large from subscribing to them.

The Section further says private companies can have a maximum of 200 members (except for One Person Companies).

Moreover, more than two persons who own shares jointly are treated as a single member.

This definition had previously prescribed a minimum paid-up share capital of Rs. 1 lakh for private companies, but an amendment in 2005 removed this requirement.

Private companies can now have a minimum paid-up capital of any amount.

Public Companies

- Section 2(72) of Companies Act, 2013 defines Public companies
- Has a minimum of seven members, no maximum limit is mentioned
- Has a minimum paid-up capital of five lacs, again there is no maximum limit

Government Company

- Section 2(45) of Companies Act, 2013 defines government companies
- Govt. Company as any company in which not less than 51% of the paid-up share capital.

Foreign Company

- Section 2(42) of Companies Act, 2013 defines Foreign companies

One Person Company

- Section 2(62) of Companies Act, 2013 defines One person companies

Small Company

- Small company is defined under section 2(85) of Companies Act, 2013.
- As per this section Small Company means a company, other than a public company, Paid up share capital of which does not exceed 50 lakhs rupees or such higher amount as may be prescribed which shall not be more than 5 crore rupees
Memorandum of Association

The first step in the formation of a company is the preparation of the memorandum of association. It is a document of great significance as it embodies the fundamental rules regarding the constitution and scope of activities of a company. The purpose of memorandum of association among others is to enable the member’s creditors and those who deal with the company to know the permitted scope of its activities.

Various clauses of the memorandum of association:

- Name clause
- Registered office clause
- Objectives Clause
- Liability clause
- Capital clause
- Association or subscription clause

Articles Of Association

Articles of Association is the second important document of a company. It consists of a set of rules/ regulations and bye laws made by the company for internal management of the company and for carrying out the objects of the company embodied in its memorandum of association.

The Companies Act, 1956 requires that the articles of association must be filed together with the memorandum of association by the following kind of companies:

- Unlimited company
- Company limited by guarantee
- Private company limited by shares

Unit 19: Doctrines of Ultra vires/Constructive Notice/Indoor Management

Doctrines of Ultra vires
When a company exercises its powers to promote and/or realise any of its objectives stated in the memorandum of association, it is intra vires (i.e. within the powers of) the company. However, any other act of the company which is outside the scope of the objects clause of the memorandum of association is known as ultra vires (i.e. beyond the powers of) the company.

Constructive Notice

It is the duty of every person who deals with a company to inspect its public documents, i.e. its memorandum of association and articles of association and make sure that his contract is in accordance with their provisions.

However, whether a person has actually read them or not he shall be in the same position as if he had read them.

In other words, he will be presumed to have knowledge of the contents of these documents and to have understood them according to their proper meaning. This kind of presumed notice is known as constructive notice. This is known as the doctrine of constructive notice.

Effect of the Doctrine of Constrictive Notice

- He who deals with company is deemed to have notice of the public documents whether he has actually seen them or not.
- Another effect is that a person dealing with the company is not only deemed to have notice but is also presumed to have read those documents and to have understood not only the company’s powers but also of its officers.
- The Doctrine of constrictive notice is of a negative nature in the sense the it stops a person from contending that he had no notice of the contents of the documents.

Indoor Management

A person who deals with the company is deemed to have read and understood the registered public documents such as the memorandum of association and articles of association, etc., to see that his contract with the company is not inconsistent with them.

But he is not bound to inquire into the regularity of the company’s internal functioning or the internal management of the company. Hence if his contract is consistent with the public documents, the company is bound. He will not be affected by any irregularity in the internal management of the company. This is known as the doctrine of indoor management.

Unit 20: Membership of Company

Who is a Member of Company?

According to the Companies Act, 2013 the term member of a company means:
• The subscribers of the memorandum of the company who shall be deemed to have agreed to become member of the company and on its registration shall be entered as member in its register of members.

• Every other person who agrees in writing to become a member of a company and whose name is entered in its register of members.

• Every person holding equity share capital of a company and whose name is entered as beneficial owner in the records of the depository shall be deemed to be a member of the concerned company.

Various Modes Of Becoming A Member Of A Company

• By Subscribing to Memorandum of Association

• Membership by Allotment of Shares

• Transfer of Shares

• Transmission of Shares

• Membership by Acquiescence

• Joint Membership

Who can be Members of a Company

• Any person competent to Contract - Every person who is competent to contract can become member of company.

• Minor and persons of Unsound Mind (Under Indian Contract Act 1872): Minor and persons of Unsound Mind cannot be member, as they are incompetent to contract.

• Company as Member: As a company is a legal person it can become a member of another company.

• Partnership Firm: Since a partnership is not a legal person, it cannot buy shares in its own name and thus become member of the company.

• Registered Society (Under Societies Registration Act 1860): can hold shares in a company.

• Non-Residents: A NRI cannot become a member without complying with the requirements of the FEMA 1999 and without permission of RBI.

• Fictitious Persons: Any person whom makes an fictitious name an application to a company, induces a company to allot or register any transfer of shares to him or any other person in a fictitious name, shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to 5 years.
Cessation Of Membership In A Company

The membership in a company ceases in case of any of the following:

- If a member transfers his shares to another person.
- If a member’s shares are forfeited
- If the shares are sold pursuant to a decree of a Court.
- If the member surrenders his shares to the company where such surrender is permitted.
- If he rescinds the contract to take the shares, e.g. on the ground of misrepresentation in the prospectus.
- If a member is adjudicated insolvent (shares and other properties of an insolvent vest in the Official Receiver or Assignee).
- On the death of a member: However, the estate of the deceased member, remains liable until the shares are registered in the name of his legal representative.
- If redeemable preference shares are redeemed.
- If the company is being wound up. In such a case a member remains liable as a contributor and is also entitled to share in the surplus assets, if any.

Right and Duties (Liability) of Members of a Company

- Unlimited Liability Company: The member is liable in full for all the debts of the Company contracted during the period of his membership.

- Company Limited by Guarantee: The member is liable to contribute a sum of money agreed and specified in the liability clause of memorandum of association in the event of being wound up.

- Company limited by shares: The member is liable to pay the full nominal value of the shares and the member ends there.

Unit 21: Prospectus

Prospectus

The Companies Act, 2013 (Sec. 2(70)) defines a prospectus as any document described or issued as a prospectus and includes a red herring prospectus (Sec.32) or shelf prospectus (sec. 31) any notice, circular, advertisement or other document inviting deposits from the public or inviting offers from the public for the subscription or purchase of any shares in, or debentures of a body corporate.

Prospectus means a document by which a company solicits funds from the public for its capital either by way of shares, debentures or deposits.

It is very clear that private companies cannot issue a prospectus to raise funds from the public.
It is prohibited under the articles of association of the company. It is necessarily the public companies who issue the prospectus.

In the following cases even though shares are offered to the public, issue of prospectus is not required:

- When a person is invited to enter into an underwriting agreement/arrangement to purchase/subscribe the shares.
- When the shares are offered only to the existing shareholders or debenture holders of the company.
- When the shares or debentures offered are in all respect uniform with the shares or debentures previously issued and listed on a recognised stock exchange.

Compliance With Respect To Prospectus

- Time of issue of Prospectus: A prospectus can be issued only after the incorporation of the company.
- Contents of the Prospectus: Section 26 of the Companies Act 2013, stipulates the mandatory provisions that are to be stated in the prospectus.
- Date of publication: It is stated that a prospectus must be dated and this ensures a prima facie evidence of the date of its publication.
- Signature of every director on the Prospectus: A prospectus must be signed by every person.
- Application form with a Prospectus: Every application form for shares must be

Unit 25: The Right to Information Act, 2005

The Right to Information Act, 2005 was enacted with intent to provide for setting out the practical regime of right to information for citizens to secure access to information under the control of public authorities, in order to promote transparency and accountability in the working of every public authority. This Act extends to whole of India except the State of Jammu & Kashmir.

Definitions

• Central Government is the appropriate authority if the concerned public authority is established, constituted, owned, controlled or substantially financed by funds provided directly or indirectly by that Government or the Union Territory Administration.

• It is the State Government, if the concerned public authority is established, constituted, owned, controlled or substantially financed by funds provided directly or indirectly by that Government.

• 'Central Information Commission' means the Central Information Commission constituted by the Central Government.

• 'Central Public Information Officer' means the Central Public Information Officer designated by the public authority and includes a Central Assistant Public Information Officer.

• 'Information' means any material in any form, including records, documents, memos, emails, opinions, advices, press releases, circulars, orders, logbooks, contracts, reports, papers, samples, models, data material held in any electronic form and information relating to any private body which can be accessed by a public authority under any law for the time being in force.

'Public authority' means any authority or body or institution of self Government established:
Obligations Of Public Authorities

PIOs (Public Information Officers) are officers designated by the public authorities in all administrative units or offices under it to provide information to the citizens that request for information under the Act. Any officer, whose assistance has been sought by the PIO for the proper discharge of his or her duties, shall render all assistance, whenever demanded.

Procedure For Obtaining Information

- PIO shall deal with requests from persons seeking information and where the request cannot be made in writing, to render reasonable assistance to the person to reduce the same in writing.
• If the information requested for is held by or its subject matter is closely connected with the function of another public authority, the PIO shall transfer, within five days, the request to that other public authority and inform the applicant immediately.

• PIO may seek the assistance of any other officer for the proper discharge of his/her duties.

• PIO, on receipt of a request, shall as expeditiously as possible, and in any case within thirty days of the receipt of the request, either provide the information on payment of such fee as may be prescribed or reject the request for any of the reasons specified in 8.8 or 8.9 of the Act.

• Where the information requested for concerns the life or liberty of a person, the same shall be provided within forty-eight hours of the receipt of the request.

Disposal Of Request

(a) If the PIO fails to give a decision on the request within the period specified, he shall be deemed to have refused the request.

Where a request has been rejected, the PIO shall communicate to the requester -

• The reasons for such rejection,

• The period within which an appeal against such rejection may be preferred,

• The particulars of the appellate authority.

PIO shall provide the information in the form in which it is sought unless it would disproportionately divert the resources of the public authority or would be detrimental to the safety or preservation of the record in question.

If allowing partial access, the PIO shall give a notice to the applicant, informing:

• That only part of the record requested, after severance of the record containing information which is exempt from disclosure, is being provided;

• The reasons for the decision, including any findings on any material question of fact, referring to the material on which those findings were based;

• The name and designation of the person giving the decision;

• The details of the fees calculated by him or her and the amount of fee which the applicant is required to deposit; and

• His or her rights with respect to review of the decision regarding non-disclosure of part of the information, the amount of fee charged or the form of access provided.
If information sought has been supplied by a third party or is treated as confidential by that third party, the PIO shall give a written notice to the third party within five days from the receipt of the request and take its representation into consideration.

Third party must be given a chance to make a representation before the PIO within ten days from the date of receipt of such notice.

(b) Payment of fees

- As per the Right to Information (Regulation of Fee and Cost) Rules, 2005, the application shall be accompanied by a fee of rupees ten. It may be paid in cash against proper receipt or by demand draft or a banker’s cheque or by Indian Postal Order. The instrument is payable to the accounts officer of the public authority.

(c) Disposal of the request

- Where the application is received by another public authority or the information is more closely connected with the functions of another public authority, the application shall be transferred to that other public authority within five days from the date of the receipt of the application and inform the applicant about the transfer.

- If the application relates to the public authority receiving it, the information shall be provided as expeditiously as possible but within thirty days.

- If the information sought concerns the life or liberty of a person, the same shall be provided within forty-eight hours of the receipt of the request.

- The applicant is required to pay the charges for providing the information. The rules prescribe the charges for computing the cost. The charges are computed at the following rates:

  ✓ Rupees two for each page in A-4 or A-3 size paper created or copied;

  ✓ Actual charge or cost price of a copy in larger size paper;

  ✓ Actual cost or price for samples or models; and

  ✓ For inspection of records, no fee for the first hour and a fee of rupees five for each fifteen minutes or fraction thereof thereafter.

(d) Third Party Information

- Third party means a person other than the citizen making a request for information and includes a public authority. Where a Central Public Information Officer intends to disclose any information or record or part thereof which relates to or has been supplied by a third party and has been treated as confidential by that third party, the Central Public Information Officer shall within five days from the date of receipt of the request give a written notice to such third party that he intends to disclose the information.
(e) Rejection of the request

- The request for Information may be rejected where such a request for providing access would involve an infringement of copyright subsisting in a person other than the State.

- Where a request has been rejected, the Central Public Information Officer shall communicate to the person making the request the reasons for such rejection, the particulars of the appellate authority and the period within which an appeal against such rejection may be preferred.

(f) Information exempt from disclosure

The Act lists certain categories of information that is exempt from disclosure. These include:

- Information, the disclosure of which would prejudicially affect the sovereignty and integrity of India;
- Disclosure of information expressly forbidden by law or may constitute contempt of court;
- Disclosure of which would cause a breach of privilege of Parliament or of the State Legislature;
- Information relating to commercial confidence, trade secrets or intellectual property;
- Information available to a person in his fiduciary relationship;

- Information, the disclosure of which would endanger the life or physical safety of any person;
- Information which would impede the process of investigation or apprehension or prosecution of offenders;
- Cabinet papers including records of deliberations of the Council of Ministers, Secretaries and other officers.

Appeal

The Central Government has the powers to constitute a body known as the Central information commission. The State Governments have the power to constitute for the State a body known as the State Information Commission to administer the provisions of the Act where the State Government is the appropriate authority.

The Central Information Commission (also the State Information Commission wherever it has the jurisdiction) has been empowered to receive and inquire into a complaint from any person
• Who has been unable to Central Public Information Officer; or his application for information or appeal was refused to be received by the Central Assistant Public Information Officer;

• Who has been refused access to any information requested under this Act;

• Who has not been given a response to a request for information;

• Who has been required to pay a fee which he considers unreasonable;

• Who believes he has been given incomplete, misleading or false information;

• In respect of any other matter under this Act.

Any person who does not receive a decision within the time specified (normally thirty days) or is aggrieved by a decision of the Central Public Information Officer may within thirty days from the expiry of such period or from the receipt of such decision.

Penalties

The Central Information Commission has the power to impose a penalty of 250 rs for each day till the information is furnished subject to a maximum of 25000 rupees.
